

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

June 16, 2009

South Portland's Brickhill Complex Welcomes New Tenants

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine – Two medical users and one family service agency recently relocated to newly renovated spaces at 100 Brickhill Avenue in South Portland, also known as The Castle at Brickhill. The new tenants are Maine Adoption Placement Service, Advanced Orthopedics and Sports Medicine, and New England WomenCenter. Thomas Moulton, CCIM, SIOR, Katherine Allen and Chris Craig of NAI The Dunham Group were leasing agents.

100 Brickhill Ave. is located just off Westbrook St. near the Maine Mall, offering easy access to both I-295 and I-95 and a short commute to Maine Medical Center, Mercy Hospital and Downtown Portland. The Castle's location, along with its campus-like setting, ample on-site parking, and generous fit-up allowance has lent itself well to a variety of users, particularly in the medical field.

MAPS, Maine Adoption Placement Service, is a multi-service, non-profit organization serving children and families worldwide. Since 1977, MAPS has placed more than 4,000 children with local families through domestic and international adoption programs.

Advanced Orthopedics and Sports Medicine specializes in the diagnosis, treatment and recovery of sports and joint related injuries. The practice was opened in March of 2008 by the leading orthopedic arthroscopy specialist, Dr. F. Lincoln Avery. Advance Orthopedics shares an office with Drs. Dennis J. Sullivan, M.D., P.A. and Samuel Scott, M.D.

New England WomenCenter, founded in 1997, is a health practice that caters to women of all ages. Their mission is to provide comprehensive women's health care in a safe, comfortable environment that forms a bridge between traditional and complementary health practices. Services include ob/gyn care as well as care for a variety of other physical and mental health issues unique to women.

For more information on these leases or the remaining opportunities at 100 Brickhill Ave., contact Thomas Moulton, CCIM, SIOR or Katherine Allen of NAI The Dunham Group at 207-773-7100.